

Cobwebb Communications Ltd. Celebrates 30 Years

Cobwebb Communications Ltd. are pleased to announce their 30 year anniversary.

In 1986, Peter Webb saw an opportunity in the market and developed Cobwebb's first product - Telex for the IBM midrange server System/36. The last surviving telex system was finally decommissioned in 2006, heralding the end of 20 years of service. Meanwhile, many other products (such as Email, Fax & EDI) entered the market and provided myriad communication options for Cobwebb.

"Cobwebb is experiencing strong growth thanks to our focus on providing innovative and reliable business critical solutions. Working with our customers and understanding their unique business challenges has underpinned our longevity in the industry and will provide the foundation on which we build moving forward." Daniel Webb, Managing Director, Cobwebb Communications Ltd.

Cobwebb are proud to be celebrating 30 years of software this year. They have marked this magnificent achievement in many ways, including new company wide branding along with celebrating the special occasion by gathering many of their friends together at Stapleford Park Country House in Leicestershire for a birthday party.

"Your ethos of wanting to help solve problems, develop relationships and not just chasing a sale, came across strongly at your event. If more companies operated like you, the world would be a better place." John Taubman, IS Director, Real Good Food PLC
